about pan underground.

pan underground is a production company specializing in work which challenges the way live theatre is made and experienced. the company offers a platform for projects and artists creating unique opportunities to collaborate and connect through theatre and performance.

pan underground maintains a flexible operating structure to best respond to the creative and production needs of different projects. however, the priorities remain the same—pan underground seeks out and supports work which:

- expands how audiences and artists engage with live theatre and interdisciplinary performance.
- creates equitable, diverse opportunities for artists.
- widens circles of engagement and accessibility.

You can support pan underground through a tax-deductible contribution right here.
